Dear Parents and Carers,

I would like to begin by thanking you for your continued support this year. It has truly been a pleasure to serve as Progress Leader for Year 11. Our staff have been so impressed by the effort, focus and determination your children have shown as they continue preparing for their GCSE exams. The maturity and commitment they are demonstrating make us all proud.

Students have now received an email outlining the intervention sessions taking place over the two-week holiday, these sessions will be sent to you via the bromcom app. These sessions are an important opportunity for targeted students to receive additional support in key subjects. Please encourage your child to check their school email to see which sessions they have been invited to attend.

If your child has not been allocated any intervention sessions this time, subject staff will be providing independent study materials to ensure all students continue their revision over the break. All Year 11 students have also been given a revision planner, which they should be using to map out their study schedule. It is vital that they are revising every day in preparation for their upcoming assessments.

Finally, please take a moment to look over your child's exam timetable (attached) so you are aware of the dates and subjects for their upcoming exams. Your continued encouragement and support at home make a real difference to their progress and confidence.

Thank you once again for your ongoing partnership. Together, we can help ensure our Year 11 students achieve their very best.

Yours faithfully,

Mr Alabi
